2021
Moscow

Dear colleagues,

The International Conference «The gender equality policy as a factor of sustainable development of modern states: opportunities and challenges in the context of digitalization» will be held on February 19-20, 2021, in the Institute of Socio-Political Research – Branch of the Federal Center of Theoretical and Applied Sociology of the Russian Academy of Sciences (ISPR FCTAS RAS).

The conference format is hybrid: both personal attendance and remote access are possible.

Implementation of the gender equality policy is an essential and demanding challenge for modern states that are aimed on sustainable development and human capital assets maintenance. When women are active and equal participants of social, economic and political life, the social structure is more consolidated and it helps to create a potential for satisfying human needs and ambitions, provides the better living standards.

The modern digital era, transforming our vision of activity and management, is changing our lives and provides us with new opportunities of gender and other types of inequality problem solving. The state and citizens are able to share information swiftly. Virtual platforms create options for new forms of jobs, provide employment opportunities. New formats of activities allow people to combine their jobs with other life spheres, provide a society with new forms of political activities and new forms of communication with authorities and government agencies.

The leading topics of the conference:

- gender-based approaches in modern socio-humanitarian sciences;
- gender-based discourses in the modern political life and media landscape;
- processes of digitalization of policies of gender equality;
- conceptual foundations and a methodology of studies;
- a transformation of a labor market and a new ‘jobs map’ in the context of digitalization;
- equality (social, gender, ageism etc.) in the digital era and state policies: conclusions after the pandemic.

Subsequent to the results of the conference it is planned to publish collected papers of the conference. Also the conference papers (articles) will be published in the journal of the Institute of Socio-Political Research – Branch of the Federal Center of Theoretical and Applied Sociology of the Russian Academy of Sciences (ISPR FCTAS RAS) «Nauka.
